

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is a variant of traditional Twenty-One in which the dealer and players attempt to build a hand with a value of twenty-one, or as close to twenty-one as possible without exceeding twenty-one, using cards that are known to players
5 and the dealer as they are dealt and common cards that remain unknown until all player and/or dealer decisions are completed.